Seminar on Intellectual Property Rights (IPR)

A seminar on Intellectual Property Laws on the topic 'Nexus between Intellectual Property and Competition Law' was conducted on 3rd February 2020 at 4 pm. In India, Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) and Competition Law are two significant legal frameworks that control all areas of business and innovation. While they handle separate issues, there is a link between the two that seeks to achieve a balance between encouraging innovation and guaranteeing fair market competition.

Pragati Suryawanshi, the chief presenter for the lecture introduced the attendees to the basics of Competition Act, 2002 and its critical role in encouraging and preserving healthy competition in the marketplace. She then focused on the point of contention between innovation and competition, emphasising the importance of striking a balance between the two, as well as how the two laws complement each other to foster healthy commerce without sacrificing originality of the creation.

The seminar helped students realise the need of striking a balance between encouraging innovation and guaranteeing fair competition. It also encouraged them to make informed decisions and emphasised the importance of complementing intellectual property laws with competition laws in order to comprehend the broader legal framework, avoid anti-competitive practises, balance public interest, facilitate licensing and technology transfer, ensure compliance, participate in policy development, and navigate the international landscape.
