ICT Enabled Classrooms

Anand Vishwa Gurukul College of Law's objective is to preserve and share knowledge for the benefit of society, and the use of ICT is essential to this goal. ICT use at our college has enhanced teaching and learning, prodded collaborative skills, and equipped students for the digital age. Multimedia presentations, online simulations, and virtual classrooms are examples of ICT tools that have given the college dynamic and engaging learning settings. The College offers free access to websites that are useful for study, so students have quick and easy access to a wealth of legal resources including online legal databases, digital libraries, and e-books. This allows individuals to learn at their own pace, grow in their comprehension of intricate legal ideas, and sharpen their research abilities.

Our College facilitates virtual courtroom simulations, where our students can practice professional advocacy skills in a simulated environment. We also conduct mock trials and virtual courtrooms which provide an immersive learning experience, allowing students to develop courtroom etiquette, legal argumentation, and presentation skills. Additionally, presentation method is also used by the faculties in order to explain various concepts more efficiently. ICT is an important element in teaching-learning methods. All classrooms in the college are ICT enabled. Use of presentations while teaching enhance learning abilities of the students as it becomes easy to understand complex concepts.

We also conduct various e-seminars and guest lectures in order to make students aware about legal practices. E-books are also recommended to students by faculty members. Along with this, e-journals are also recommended as it is a periodical publication which is published in electronic format, usually on the Internet and therefore consists of latest information on a specific aspect. They can read it anywhere and carry out their research without any hurdles.

We make effective use of ICTs into teaching-learning process as it has the potential to engage the students. Our professors make use of various ICT tools such as audio-video aid to present practical legal problems which motivates and challenges students and thus enhance their analytical and problem-solving skills. Recently, e-Granthalaya was also introduced to the students of our college. It is a digital platform developed by National Informatics Centre, Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology and Government of India. Students are also encouraged to prepare presentations in order to improve their linguistic skills. Our college have also installed computers in the library in order to provide internet access and e-learning facilities to the students who are unable to do so due to their financial conditions. Thus, our college have taken various initiatives through ICT which equips students with the necessary skills and knowledge to practice law, administer justice, and contribute to the development of the legal system.

E-Granthalaya- A Digital Agenda for Library Automation & Networking

This library management software is a complete solution for library automation. It has been developed by the Library & Information Services Division, National Informatics Centre, Department of Information Technology, Ministry of Communications & Information Technology, Government of India, New Delhi. The software runs on windows platform in client/server mode. The infrastructure requirements (hardware, operating system, database management software, internet connectivity, etc.) for using the software are specific. E-Granthalaya 3.0 uses MS SQL Server (any edition) as backend database software and VB.NET/ASP.NET 2.0 as frontend solution. Express edition of SQL Server is provided free along with e-Granthalaya software.

The software is made available free of charge to libraries under e-governance initiative of the Government of India. However, the recipient library has to pay the charges for installation of the software, training of staff and post-installation technical support and service.

E-Granthalaya is complete and integrated bibliographic software. It is user friendly. It covers the following modules:

- 1) Administration
- 2) Book Acquisition
- 3) Cataloguing
- 4) Circulation
- 5) Serials
- 6) Articles Indexing
- 7) Budget

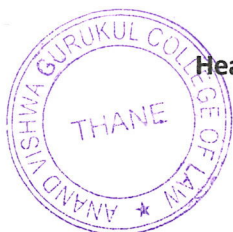

Search module includes simple & advance search, authority-based search, View Index, Catalogue Queries, Search by Holdings, Acquisition Queries, View Approval/Order Details, Vendor Queries, Invoice Queries, Current Awareness, and SDI (Selective Dissemination of Information). Search can be performed by specifying any word in a title, author, editor, translator, publisher, keyword, broad subject (or course), classification number, language, accession number, etc.

Further the librarian can manage newspaper clippings information using this software. Also, institute and other publications (project reports, question papers, syllabus, theses, seminar papers, etc.) can be digitized, catalogued, indexed; and the user can retrieve information and see the full text of such documents. It is possible to integrate e-books in e-Granthalaya software database.

Z39.50 Protocol. In the case where internet connectivity is available, it is possible to upload or import catalogue records from the Library of Congress and other libraries so that there is no need to enter bibliographic details manually in the database. This feature is known as copy cataloguing in library parlance.

Multilingual (Unicode) Facility. Apart from books in English language, it is possible to enter information about books written in Indian regional languages such as Marathi, Hindi, Gujarati, Kannada, etc. The software is Unicode compliant.

OPAC (Online Public Access Catalogue): Provides access to complete backend database for searching which includes options from a simple search to an advance search. It is especially useful for faculty and students. OPAC gives access to books, journals, etc. to make your library's database available on the LAN.

GOJURIS

GoJuris is a comprehensive legal research application tailored for professionals engaging with Indian law. Available across multiple platforms—including desktop, online, and mobile versions—it offers extensive access to a vast repository of legal documents and judgments.

Extensive Database:

GoJuris provides access to over 16 million judgments from the Supreme Court, High Courts, Privy Council, NCDRC, and various tribunals. This extensive collection is complemented by a wide range of legislations, reports, bare acts, and legal documents, all accessible through a unified interface.

Advanced Search Capabilities:

The application supports multiple search methods, including subject-based searches, citation searches, searches by act and section, nominal searches, and searches by judges' and advocates' names. This flexibility enables users to locate specific information efficiently.

Daily Updates:

The database is updated daily via the Internet, ensuring users have access to the most recent judgments and legal developments.

User-Friendly Interface:

GoJuris features a single-screen interface designed for ease of use, facilitating quick and efficient navigation through its extensive resources.

Additional Tools:

Users can bookmark judgments, copy text to document editors, email portions or entire judgments, and receive indications of over-ruled, relied upon, or distinguished cases. The "Magic Search" feature further enhances search efficiency.

Platform Availability:

Desktop Version:

The offline desktop version integrates the extensive database with a user-friendly interface, suitable for judicial officers, lawyers, law firms, and paralegal assistants.
